

Roosevelt's Lead Over Smith Climbs In Pennsylvania

Philadelphia, April 28 (AP).—Voters in the Democratic primary of Tuesday still awaited word today regarding the final result of the contest between former Governor Alfred E. Smith and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Republicans already knew they had nominated Senator James J. Davis for a second term over the opposition of the late General Smedley D. Butler, elected Rep. Louis T. McFadden, critic of President Hoover, to a second term from the 15th Congressional district, and defeated various Philadelphia candidates who tried to back the William S. Ware organization.

The cumbersome ballot and many Republican contests which impelled the voters to count that party's votes first held up information as to how far Smith had made inroads upon the 60 to 70 voters Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt expected to win from this state in his contest for the presidential nomination.

Pennsylvania has 76 votes at Chicago, 68 cast by as many district delegates and 8 cast by 16 delegates-at-large. With returns complete from 25 districts out of the 34 in the state, 33 district delegates were claimed for Roosevelt, 13 were listed against him and the sentiment of the other four so far known to be elected was in doubt.

In the race for delegates-at-large "harmony" candidates, who had promised to support the popular choice, held the lead and anti-Roosevelt candidates trailed. Roosevelt headquarters claimed 7 1/2 votes of the 8 to be cast by these delegates.

In the preferential expression, which does not bind even those delegates who agreed to be guided by it, 5,936 precincts out of 8,181 in the state gave Roosevelt 93,515 and Smith 73,490. This count included virtually complete returns from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, where Smith was believed to have his principal strength.

Cases Will Be Marked For Trial Friday

Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock County Clerk James A. Simpson will convene the May term of Supreme court for the purpose of calling the calendar of causes under the rule of the court. At that time attorneys will mark cases for trial and from the markings made at that time the day calendars will be made up. Cases ready on the part of both plaintiff and defendant will be placed on the day calendar to be taken up on Monday when Judge Sydney F. Foster convenes the May trial term.

The calendar contains 471 cases. Under Rule 1 of the court, an order returnable on the second Monday of the term will be made on the opening day of court and notice will be sent attorneys in actions which have been at issue for two years and they will be required to show cause on the second Monday of the term why such actions should not be stricken from the calendar. Where no reason is shown for the continuance, these cases which have been at issue two years will be stricken from the calendar. This strike-off order applies to both the second and third terms of court each year and is instrumental in keeping the calendar free from old actions.

Utilities Oppose Commission's Plan

Albany, N. Y., April 28 (AP).—The state's large gas and electric companies are opposed to the Public Service Commission's plan to eliminate penalties charged consumers who fail to pay their bills promptly.

The Niagara Hudson Corporation and the Associated Gas and Electric Company argued against the elimination at a hearing here yesterday. Randall J. LeBoeuf, counsel for Niagara Hudson, said the proposal would cost the companies money.

The Public Service Commission has suggested that in place of penalties for slow payment they grant discounts for prompt payment of bills. These discounts would be made possible by adding a standard extra charge to the bills as rendered.

Several smaller companies, including the Binghamton Gas Company, said they had found the plan worked.

TB Deaths Drop

Schenectady, N. Y., April 28 (AP).—The drop of tuberculosis as a death cause from first to seventh place last year was noted in a radio address last night by Dr. Thomas Farran, Jr., state health commissioner. Dr. Farran pointed to the erection of a new sanatoria at Mt. Morris and near Ithaca and Oneonta as evidence of the state's continuance of the campaign against the disease.

Jury Deliberating Fate Of Massie And 3 Other Defendants

Jury Receives Somewhat Complicated Set of Instructions From Judge Davis — Darrow Brings Tears to the Eyes of His Listeners. Honolulu, April 28 (AP).—A jury of 12 men of different racial origins, after four hours of deliberation, had not reached a verdict today in the trial of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie and three others charged with slaying Joseph Kahahawai for vengeance. Judge Charles S. Davis ordered the jurors to retire for the night at 10 p. m. (3:30 a. m. E. S. T.) and to resume consideration of the evidence at 9 a. m. today (2:30 p. m. E. S. T.). They received the case late yesterday afternoon.

Massie, an officer of the United States navy; his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Porteus, society matron, and Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord, enlisted men, are charged with slaying a native who allegedly had confessed participation in a criminal attack on Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of the officer.

After three weeks of maneuvering, challenging, arguing and pleading the case went to the jury along with a somewhat complicated set of instructions from Judge Davis.

The court ruled the jury could find the defendants with the exception of Massie, guilty of second degree murder, guilty of manslaughter, or not guilty. For Massie, Judge Davis said the jury might make any one of these findings, plus a possible verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Separate Verdicts Ordered

A separate verdict for each of the defendants was ordered. Judge Davis also ruled that evidence regarding the assault on the accused naval officer's wife could be considered only as related to Massie's mental state.

Relating to the defense contention Massie's mind went blank when he confronted the native with a pistol and heard him confess, Judge Davis instructed that if a plea of insanity had been introduced, the burden of proof was on the prosecution to show the naval officer sane.

The jurist warned the 12 men that "no man may take the law into his own hands, and the alleged fact that the deceased ravished the wife of one of the defendants cannot be considered."

To justify a second degree murder verdict, Judge Davis ruled, the jury would have to conclude the prosecution had proved the four persons killed Kahahawai and that they had intended to kill him.

However, the jurist said it would be unnecessary for the prosecution to have proved premeditation if it had shown the defendants entered into an agreement, the reasonable consequence of which was the slaying.

It was ruled all defendants could be convicted of second degree murder or manslaughter if the jury found that they conspired on January 7 last, the day before the abduction and slaying, to kill, to threaten with a pistol or kidnap the native, providing it determined that the killing was the result of such conspiracy.

Judge Davis said if the jury decided Massie killed Kahahawai and was insane at the moment, and had not planned the killing, then none of the defendants could be convicted unless the prosecution had proved a conspiracy to do things, the reasonable consequence of which would be Kahahawai's death.

The penalty for second degree murder, the charge upon which the four were brought to trial, is 20 years to life imprisonment. Manslaughter calls for a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison.

An intense plea in support of the insanity defense of Lieutenant Massie and in behalf of the unwritten law, made by Clarence Darrow, and a fiery demand by Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley for conviction of the quartet, preceded the instructions.

Darrow argued the grueling events preceding the abduction and killing were not the work of the accused and that therefore they could not be blamed. He asked the jurors to apply the golden rule.

Tears in the Eyes of Audience. Bringing tears to the eyes of his listeners, Darrow reviewed in detail how Mrs. Massie was bruised and beaten in the attack; how the ordeal had preyed on Massie's mind and how ugly rumors about Mrs. Massie's character sprang up after a jury had disagreed as to the guilt of five men accused by her.

In concluding, Darrow proclaimed his kindness toward all races. With brevity and fire Kelley whirled into his argument.

"You have been presented with a defense of sympathy, not of insanity," he said. "If you are going to decide this case of passion, then tell me and I'll be silent."

Kelley asserted Massie had taken his wife against her desires, to a dance that night of the attack, and that the naval officer was responsible for it all.

"They sacrificed that girl," Kelley shouted, pointing to Mrs. Massie, "for his ego and made a Roman holiday for the crowd that disgraced this court with applause last week."

Kelley hinted disbelief in Massie's admission that he held the pistol which killed Kahahawai, and said: "He couldn't hide behind the skirts of his mother-in-law, nor behind the two sailors who helped him. . . . the best you can say for him is that he lied like a gentleman."

AM Hawaii on Trial, Says Kelley. Kelley asserted all Hawaii was on trial in the present case, referring

Hoover Has Votes to Assure Nomination

Washington, April 28 (AP).—Hardly noticed in the flurry attending developments in the Democratic race for the Presidential nomination, President Hoover's list of delegates today had passed the number required for his renomination.

As certain as all that had been his selection as the choice of the Republican national convention six weeks hence, Kentucky's 25 votes did the trick when they were added yesterday to his previous pledged and claimed total of 375, which was just three less than required to nominate.

The status of Pennsylvania's Democratic delegation, chosen in Tuesday primary, was still much in doubt and subject to counter claims by supporters of both Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith. There was no question that the Massachusetts three to one vote against Roosevelt had boosted the stock of the groups seeking to stop him, and had assured Smith of great influence in the Chicago convention.

But without loss of time the battle shifted to a distant front, concentrating on next week's three way primary contest in California between the backers of Roosevelt, Smith and John N. Garner. Smith supporters in the east were urging on their Pacific coast colleagues.

However, as Smith himself observed in comment on the result, it will take some time for the full effect of the eastern results to manifest themselves in definite reaction elsewhere, and show whether the Roosevelt bandwagon can overcome the setback.

House Leaders Routed On Federal Pay Cuts

Washington, April 28 (AP).—A routed House leadership struggled today to save the big government economy bill, but drastic reduction of its savings appeared unavoidable. Revolving for the second time this session against party leaders, a majority of the representatives at a turbulent session last night smashed into the provision for cutting salaries and wages of government employees, exempted all pay up to the $2,500 level, and were started on further inroads when a hurried adjournment was taken.

Before today's session, the bill's supporters sought mightily to recruit some force to withstand the assault. Their mainstay in the battle was lost yesterday, however, when the House refused to adopt a rule of procedure under which amendments and debate would have been kept to a minimum.

As the bill stood when consideration was resumed, its calculated total of $200,000,000 had been cut $55,000,000 by the big exemption voted in the pay cut clause. Another $9,000,000 faced removal in a move, on which a vote was pending, to strike out a provision for eliminating the Saturday half holiday granted federal employees.

Besides the pay cut provision, conflict impeded on sections of the bill to reduce benefits to World War veterans; United Republican forces planned to seek defeat for the war and navy department consolidation plan; and threats hung over the project to abolish the army and navy transport services.

Passage of some sort of economy bill still was expected, but few believed it would resemble the draft built up two months of study by the special economy committee, partly in cooperation with President Hoover and his aides.

Aldermen to Hold Public Hearings

Two public hearings will be held next week at the city hall. The first hearing will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock by the laws and rules committee of the Common Council on the proposed peddling and hawkling license which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The second hearing will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, preceding the regular meeting of the council. This hearing is on the proposition to make Newkirk avenue a one-way street.

Reported His Car Stolen

Carl Deyo of 40 Esopus avenue, town of Ulster, reported to the police department that shortly after midnight this morning his Chevrolet coach, parked on Spring street at the Orpheum Theatre, had been stolen.

to the investigations and Federal action that followed the outbreak of public sentiment here after the slaying.

The jury is composed of 8-2 Americans, three Chinese, one German, one Dane, one Portuguese and one Hawaiian.

Shortly before the jury retired for the night the 12 men were observed through a window of the jury room, pacing up and down.

Instead of returning to the Pearl Harbor naval station 25 had been their custom, the defendants spent the night at a downtown hotel.

Senator Hanley Urges Interest in Politics Before Rotary Club

Lack of Interest in Citizenship Blamed for Criminal and Political Conditions Facing United States—Appeal to Voters.

Speaking vigorously and with much feeling, State Senator Joseph R. Hanley of Wyoming county addressed the members and guests of the Kingston Rotary Club at the club's regular mid-week meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday noon. His subject, which he called Political Citizenship, was an attack on the voting citizenry of this country, who leave the great problems of the nation in the hands of politicians instead of taking personal interest in them. In his effort to prove that no social, moral, or political problem was ever solved politically, Senator Hanley brought a message to his listeners that proved as interesting as it was thought provoking.

The following guests were present at the meeting, and were introduced to the members by President Nelson after the luncheon: Raymond Lewis, L. M. Kellenberger, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, J. B. Cashin, William Cashin, Joseph M. Fowler, J. R. Shultz, Edward Gellert, Poughkeepsie, and Lester F. Cole of Troy, N. Y. Senator Arthur Wilks was then called upon to introduce the speaker.

In beginning his talk, Senator Hanley stated that he had been an active member of Rotary for sixteen years, and because he had given many speeches on Rotary during that time, his speech on this occasion would be of an entirely different nature. The Senator said that he would discuss non-political problems in an effort to prove that citizens of the United States were neglecting public duties to an alarming degree.

"All of us," he stated, "seem to believe that our country cannot fail, and we go along without any attempt to remedy the many serious problems confronting us today. We seem to forget that greater nations than our own have failed in the past. Those people who take no interest in local and national problems are peace time slackers, and they are just as bad as war time slackers. When the public of a nation takes no interest in affairs pertaining to that nation, who are so lax that they do not even turn out to vote, who are not informed on the problems confronting their own country, then the success of democracy is at stake. Paul Harris, founder of the Rotary organization, said 'The safety of a nation lies in the character of its people.' This is very true, and should demand the thought of everyone."

The speaker then went on to say that such great problems as water power, crime, transportation, and prohibition, to mention only a few, can never be solved by political means. The only way they can be solved is through the aid and help of an intelligent and well informed citizenry. Political parties and political debates can never bring about the desired results. In the opinion of Senator Hanley, water power, whether or not it should be controlled by the state or by the individual, the problem of crime that has such a firm grip in the United States today; transportation problems regarding the highways of the country; prohibition, a problem that must be solved in some way regardless of one's personal belief on the subject; education and the problems that this brings about, are all important ones, and they can never be solved in the heat of political debates and parleys. These problems, and many more of a like nature, must be considered and solved by the people of a country, continued the speaker.

In closing his talk, the speaker urged the Rotary Club as an organization, and the members as individuals to take a greater interest in the many major problems facing the United States today. Only through the active and personal interest of all members of our government, can the solution to the economic, moral, and social problems of this country be successfully solved, he concluded.

President Nelson thanked the Senator for his interesting speech, and the meeting was adjourned, following a closing song by the members.

F. E. WEBB WILL CARRY FARM LABOR BANNER

Omaha, Neb., April 28 (AP).—Frank the second, strait, campaigner, Frank Eldridge Webb of San Francisco, will carry the presidential banner of the Farmer-Labor party. His running mate this year will be Mayor Jacob S. Coxey of Massillon, Ohio. Webb headed the party ticket in 1928.

Webb was given the nomination last night by the party's convention. Others proposed for the nomination were Mayor Coxey; Thomas Mooney, Labor leader, now serving a prison sentence in California on a bombing charge, and Harrop.

The convention adopted a national platform blaming the gold standard for present economic conditions and calling for placing of the banking and currency system in the hands of the Federal, state and local governments instead of under private ownership.

A guaranteed profit to farmers, unemployed insurance, abolishment of the Federal Farm Board and insurance of enough legal tender to pay the veterans' bonus in full were other favored points in the platform.

10 Airplanes Burned In Fire at Roosevelt Field, Loss $185,000

Roosevelt Field, L. I., N. Y., April 28 (AP).—Fire destroyed one of seven hangars and ten airplanes at this field today with a loss totaling $185,000.

The hangar, formerly known as the John Hay Whitney hangar and later designated as hangar "A," was consumed by flames in less than an hour following an explosion of undetermined cause at 9:10 a. m.

Carl Schneider, former German war pilot, was taken to a hospital at Mineola badly burned. He and John D. Egurte, who also was burned, but not so badly, were the only persons in the hangar at the time of the explosion. Both are mechanics.

The fire departments from four nearby Long Island cities were of no avail against the flames fed by gas fumes from the burning planes.

The hangar, supposedly fireproof with concrete walls, quickly crumbled.

Schneider was working at the time on the 10,000 amphibian plane Pegasus owned by Whitney. It and another smaller plane owned by Whitney were destroyed. Also among the burned planes was one valued at $20,000 and owned by George Kent, Jr., of Jericho, N. Y.

The last fire at Roosevelt Field occurred slightly more than a year ago when flames, suspected of incendiary origin, swept through six hangars, destroying nine planes and causing damage estimated at $100,000.

Against Law to Sell Meat Here on Sunday

Simon Siller of Chambers Street, Arrested on Charge of Selling Meat on Sunday, Given Suspended Sentence—Other Cases in Police Court.

Simon Siller of 61 Chambers street, who was arrested on a charge of selling meat on a Sunday morning on Henry street, was fine $10 in police court this morning by Judge Colleton, who suspended the payment of the fine. "I am doing this to jog your memory so you will not forget to observe the law in the future," remarked the court.

Siller had asked if he could not make deliveries of meat on a Sunday and was informed that it was against the law to either sell or deliver meat on that day and that hereafter he had better see to it that he made all his deliveries before Sunday.

Michael Cavanaugh of 6 Jory's Lane, who has recently concluded serving a jail sentence for ringing doorbells on Washington avenue, was arrested Wednesday afternoon on a charge of public intoxication on the third floor of the city hall. This morning the hearing was adjourned to Saturday and bail fixed at $10.

Willie Haskins, a negro of 105 North street, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of public intoxication, and also on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. The police claim that Haskins when arrested was carrying a .32 caliber revolver in his pocket. They say that Haskins had the gun for 15 years and had bought it in West Virginia. A hearing in both cases was adjourned to Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnson of 88 Wall street, were arrested on a warrant sworn out by Frank Lasker of Pine street, who charged them with assault in the third degree. Lasker in obtaining the warrants claimed that Mr. Johnson had struck him with his fists and that Mrs. Johnson had threatened him with a garden rake and called him names. Mr. Lasker was represented by Attorney Milton O. Achen, while Mr. and Mrs. Johnson had retained Attorney Andrew J. Coe to represent them. As both lawyers planned to be busy during the May session of Supreme court the hearing in both cases was adjourned to June 1.

Sir Hubert Wilkins Enthralls Hearers In Adventure Trip

Experiences By Air, Land and Sea Related By Noted Explorer At High School Auditorium Wednesday Evening.

Approximately 500 people heard and saw illustrated the lecture given by Sir Hubert Wilkins in the auditorium of Kingston High School Wednesday evening. The explorer's adventure was like a story book or some fantastic dream. Every second of the time was interesting and every word worth remembering.

Before Sir Wilkins was introduced by Principal Clarence Dumm, Rubie Tongue, president of the Prisma Society, thanked the people for their cooperation in making the presentation a success. Miss Tongue then introduced Mr. Dumm, who in turn introduced the explorer.

Early Life. Sir Wilkins went back to the time when he was a boy in Australia, and revealed the reason why he became an explorer of the poles.

It so happens that certain parts of Australia have what is called "dry spells" which last sometimes for two years. Of course, this extended period of drought leads to great hardship, famine and thirst. As a result great numbers of sheep and horses are lost daily.

As a boy Sir Wilkins drove herds of sheep over the country side of this land during its period of dryness, and he said he saw hundreds of sheep die in a day and in the entire district, they probably number into the thousands. The purpose of driving the herds was in search of water and food so that the stock might be saved.

It was one such visitation of destruction that inspired Sir Wilkins to begin a study of the atmosphere on all parts of the earth with the hopes of discovering the cause of these droughts and predict their coming. This is the sole purpose of Sir Wilkins' trips to the poles. In other words he is devoting his life to science.

To Live On The Ice

Nearly everyone thinks it is impossible to live on the ice but Sir Wilkins is of the opinion that it is possible and intends to try it. This is when he finds the conditions of the ice packs during the summer months.

They were in search of this information on their last trip to the pole in the Nautilus, he said, but being two and a half months behind schedule, they weren't very successful. However, future expeditions will probably reveal this data.

Sir Wilkins plans to set up an experimental station on the Arctic ice and also a colony of comfortable homes for the scientists. He firmly believes that men can build substantial homes and live with the ease and enjoyment that people know in the United States and England, or any other part of the earth. Still this remains to be seen and it is the conditions of the ice packs during the summer months that will determine whether such an attempt would be successful.

Submarine Suggested

Sir Wilkins said it was on his first expedition to the Arctic waste that a submarine was suggested as one of the best means of reaching the pole. At the time he was only a boy about the age of a senior at high school or a freshman at college. The idea didn't seem practical at the time so Sir Wilkins discarded it.

It was on this first trip to the north that he learned the hardship of traveling over the frozen waste by dog and sled. To begin with, he said, he wasn't used to walking for as a boy in Australia he always rode a horse everywhere he went, even though sometimes he ran six miles to catch the horse. Still Sir Wilkins remarked that running beside a dog sled all day was mighty tiresome.

This trip over the ice was sort of a hunting expedition for the outfit. They had penetrated into the fields of ice in a surface vessel, and hit an ice jam and expected to be frozen there for the remainder of the winter, so the freedom was taken to hunt bear and seal. It seems that the party was absent for two or three days, at the end of which time they discovered that the ice pack broke up; the ship had drifted away and they were marooned on an island of ice.

Here they lived for about three weeks eating seal, drinking seal oil and eating deer skin with the hair and all, dipped into seal oil. They had no fire but managed to swallow the uncooked food. Near the end of their stay they found whale meat buried in the ice. They ate this considering it a delicacy. When they were finally rescued and taken to a small town on the frozen coast of Canada, an old whaler told them that the whale meat they ate was four years old, but Sir Wilkins said it was too late for them to do anything about it then.

Flew By Plane

The evils of going to the north in a surface vessel and exploring by dog and sled, proved to be another but what Sir Wilkins was learning was that the best way to reach the pole was by air.

On this trip they took the North Pole, and Sir Wilkins says he has no interest in the pole. It has always been in his mind to find and set up an experimental station. No land was found.

Wednesday, May 11, Set as Welcome Date For Max Schmeling

Instead of coming to Kingston May 9, according to schedule, Max Schmeling will get his first glimpse of the old Colonial City on Wednesday, May 11. The change in the date of his arrival here was made yesterday when Billy McCarney, one of his managers, came from New York for a conference with Max Ashton Hart, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The champ will arrive via the Rhinebeck ferry due to dock at some time around 7 p. m. With him will be his managers and probably a corps of training camp assistants, including sparring partners, and newspaper writers and cameramen.

A welcome committee will receive the champ and as usual will likely present him with the key to the city. There will be a big parade over a route which has not yet been settled. Leading the procession will be the American Legion Drum Corps.

Greenwich Lodge where Maxie is to do his training is about ready for his reception there. Men have been busy for the past several weeks conditioning the resort. Roads especially have come in for detailed attention in order to make traveling comfortable for those who visit the camp, which is a short distance off the main highway.

The list of contributors to the training camp fund is growing every day, reports Secretary Hart of the Chamber of Commerce. However, more money is needed for the purpose and contributions will be greatly appreciated. Checks or money may be sent to the Chamber of Commerce office with directions to apply the amount to the Schmeling training fund. Those who have already given, and the list includes merchants of all kinds, are certain Kingston will benefit greatly by bringing Schmeling here.

Two Dead, Two Hurt In Train Derailment

South Bend, Ind., April 28 (AP).—Engineer James Grover and Fireman Walter C. Shinning, both of Battle Creek, Mich., were scalded to death and two other persons were injured when the Maple Leaf passenger train of the Grand Trunk Railroad, en route from Montreal to Chicago, was derailed here today and one of its baggage cars plunged off a high elevation embankment into a house.

Apparently none of the train's passengers were injured and none of the coaches were overturned. Police and volunteer workers, however, searched the ruins of the house for other possible victims. The two injured, neither seriously, were five-year-old Marshal Bradburn and his father, who were asleep in the house.

The boy miraculously escaped death. He was in bed in the rear of the house while his parents slept in front. The heavy baggage car almost completely demolished the rear part and workers were compelled to fight their way through the wreckage to reach the house. Mrs. Bradburn was not injured.

The bodies of both the engineer and fireman were found in the cab of the locomotive. Both had been scalded to death by escaping steam.

Police Are Staging A Headlight Drive

This week the Kingston police department are staging a headlight drive in Kingston and automobilists would do well to see that the headlights on their cars are working properly. The drive is staged to check up on those driving cars with defective headlights, and is for the protection of the auto driver who sees to it that his car is kept in good running condition with the headlights in proper shape.

Novel I. H. C. Plan Guarantees Prices Of Staple Crops

Higher prices for wheat, corn, and cotton are guaranteed by the International Harvester Company in an offer to this year's purchasers of certain important crop-producing and harvesting machines. The higher prices guaranteed are 70 cents a bushel, Chicago, for wheat; 50 cents a bushel, Chicago, for corn; and 8 1/2 cents a pound, New Orleans, for cotton.

George A. Hanney, vice president in charge of sales, states: "We are convinced that the reluctance of farmers to buy implements needed for the economical production and harvesting of their wheat, corn, and cotton crops is due to the present unsatisfactory prices of these commodities, and we believe that if they were assured of higher prices for their products they would not hesitate to purchase the new cost-reducing machines that they need."

In order to meet this situation, and to evidence our faith that prices of farm products must soon improve, we are now offering growers of wheat, corn, and cotton assurance of higher prices with which to pay notes given hereafter and maturing this year for purchases of certain machines most vitally needed in making and gathering these crops.

The list of machines to which this offer applies includes farm tractors, harvester-threshers or combines, windrow-harvesters, and stationary threshers. The higher prices which these new terms guarantee are 70 cents a bushel, Chicago, for No. 2 hard wheat; 50 cents a bushel, Chicago, for No. 2 yellow corn; and 8 1/2 cents a pound, New Orleans, for middling cotton.

"Notes maturing in 1932, given hereafter in payment for the machines listed and representing not more than 40 per cent of the purchase price, there will be endorsed the equivalent number of bushels of wheat or corn or pounds of cotton computed at the prices named. If the average market quotation for the 5-day period prior to and including the maturity date of the note is less than the price named, the purchaser will be credited with an amount representing the price differential multiplied by the number of bushels or pounds endorsed on the note.

For example, if the note due in 1932 amounts to $420, it will require 600 bushels of wheat at 70 cents, Chicago, to meet the obligation. Should the price of wheat at maturity be less than 70 cents, say, 60 cents per bushel, Chicago, the purchaser's note will be accordingly reduced $60.

"I take this opportunity of reiterating what the company said in its recent annual report for 1931—that the present abnormally low prices of farm products would not long prevail; also that only a slight improvement in prices for farm products would have an important effect in correcting the vicious circle into which all business has been forced in the period through which we are now passing."

News All Over The Empire State

(By The Associated Press)

Tonawanda (AP)—In a contest at Company K armory here, Frank Horack of Tonawanda, using a bow and arrow, defeated Herbert Wolf, champion of the Twin City Rifle Club, who used a pistol. Shooting 20 times, slow fire, from a distance of 50 feet, Horack scored 127 to Wolf's 123. Horack is the archery champion of New York state.

Batevia (AP)—The health-giving springs at Avon, Livingston county, once rated a close second to Saratoga Springs, will be restored to the public. If plans of the Genesee County Association materialize, the springs now are privately owned but the association hopes to make their waters available to all.

Springville (AP)—Springville taxpayers have a reason to be thankful. The school tax rate for 1931-32 is $10.36 compared with $15.27 last year and school board members say it will be reduced to seven dollars next year. Completion of payments for a new heating plant, new steel stairways and new electric system make the reduction possible.

Tupper Lake (AP)—Rats like Eugene Corneau's cats. Corneau owns a mother cat whose home is a cozy box where she cares for her brood of five-week-old kittens. Lately a full-grown rat has come to join this happy family, and since the kittens don't seem to mind, neither does Eugene. So cat, rat and kittens room and board in the same box.

Buffalo (AP)—In a series of tests given college students by the American council on education, freshmen at the University of Buffalo college of arts and sciences and school of business administration ranked among the highest 15 per cent. The average score for the University of Buffalo was 171.60, compared with 147.37 as the average of the 152 colleges at which the tests were given, Chancellor Samuel P. Capen said.

Roosevelt To Take Annual Rest Cure

Warm Springs, Ga., April 26 (AP)—A new and furnished six-room cottage is ready for Governor Roosevelt, who arrives here next Saturday night for a three weeks' vacation at this health resort the governor calls "my other home."

The New York executive and Mrs. Roosevelt will receive a homecoming welcome at the little station of the Southern Railway. Twice a year since 1924 the natives of this tiny upland village and patients from the infantile paralysis institution on the hill have welcomed the governor.

Mr. Roosevelt established the Warm Springs foundation where the victims of infantile paralysis are treated; he bought a farm near the village and always has had a home on the foundation grounds.

The new home is far back in the reservation overlooking a valley. It is off the main roads of the grounds. Last year when Mr. Roosevelt was at Warm Springs his cottage, closer to the hotel and swimming pool, was an attraction for hundreds of tourists. Possibly the new place will give him some privacy.

The governor will remain here until May 19. On his northern return journey he will stop off at Charlotte, N. C., on May 20, for the Merkleburg Independence observation. He also is considering visiting the Indiana Democratic editors at French Lick on May 21.

Mr. Roosevelt first came to Warm Springs in 1924, shortly after the famous Madison Square Garden convention of the Democrats in which he directed the nomination campaign of former Governor Smith of New York. The old Meriwether Hotel was run down and the grounds neglected. The warm spring was a dilapidated public swimming pool. Few were at the station when the almost crippled was lifted from the train.

He will return Saturday the outstanding Democratic candidate for the presidential nomination, able to walk with a minimum assistance. And there will be a crowd to greet him. Smith, whose conversion eight years ago Roosevelt directed, this year is one of the governor's rivals for the presidential honors.

Meriwether Hotel and the springs grounds have been improved in the intervening years. A score of cottages have been added. An outdoor swimming pool has been modernized and the patients' pool enlarged and improved. An indoor swimming pool was added. Edsel Ford furnishing the money.

First Cameos? Cameos are said to have originated in Egypt.

DANCE AT R. W. S. HALL

The opening entertainment and dance at the R. W. S. Hall in High Falls attracted 275 people Wednesday night.

It was the first of a series of weekly dances which are being conducted by A. W. Gilbert, who is endeavoring to introduce a new form of weekly entertainment. Prompted by his success with the first dance for the Cortkill Fire Company last month, Mr. Gilbert arranged to conduct dances every Wednesday throughout May and June.

Roger Baer and his "Six Cabs" supplied the music and the entertainment included solo selections accordianists.

Numerous organizations are being requested to cooperate in an effort to fill each Wednesday evening with good wholesome fun. A number of moral entertainment features are being arranged for the succeeding dances.

16 LEADING HOMEMAKERS tell "High-Power" advantages

Women from 16 states declare new burner "beyond all previous experience"

SIXTEEN rural leaders met in Cleveland recently as our national Advisory Council. Four days they studied the new High-Power burner. They put on their aprons and spent hours giving High-Power burners the most difficult cooking tests. Then they wrote:

"The greatest advantages of the new High-Power burner," declare these Council reports, "are: ease and quick responsiveness in lighting".... "great range of heat available and the steadiness with which that heat is maintained".... "economy of fuel and time"

"Simmering and broiling... which I had supposed could not be done on an oil stove... make the High-Power Perfection the equal of any gas or electric stove I know of," exclaims one enthusiastic Council member, "it is so safe, so clean, so efficient."

Fourteen High-Power Perfections... prices as low as $18.00

Why put up with dirty fuels and a heated kitchen all summer?

Ask, at your dealer's, for a demonstration of the High-Power burner. See the Perfection models selected by the Advisory Council as ideal for rural homes. Order yours... before another baking day.

PERFECTION Oil Burning STOVES

Your lawn and flowers can't be beautiful if they're HALF-STARVED

WHEN flowers are spindling and slow to mature—when grass grows colorless and burns easily—you have no one to blame but yourself. They're doing the best they can, but they're half-starved!

Half-starved because hungry plants for years have been eating the food supply out of the soil. Gardeners have done their best to correct the deficiency with manures and bone meal. But these lack certain necessary elements.

14 food elements are needed for thriving growth. Knowing that, Swift & Company experts developed, for the first time, the square meal for plants—Vigoro.

Vigoro contains, in right balance, all the food elements plants must get from the soil. 4 lbs. to every 100 sq. ft. will do wonders for everything you grow.

Millions have fed the square meal with amazing success. They have proved that Vigoro is an investment in home beauty which increases property values.

Vigoro is clean, odorless, easy to use—and economical, because it goes farther.

Your garden supply dealer has Vigoro in 5 convenient packages: 100-lb. bags to 12-oz. packages. Order today from him!

The square meal for lawn and flowers
is 4 lbs. of Vigoro
per 100 sq. ft.

VIGORO "The Square Meal" FOR LAWNS AND GARDENS

FOR VEGETABLE GARDENS—APPLY VIGORO

and in a short time you will reap a garden abundantly full of luscious vegetables. Then compare them with other years when you tried to grow vegetables in poor, worn-out soil. The results, we have found, will be quite revealing. DEPRESSION WILL NOT HIT YOUR GARDEN IF YOU USE VIGORO.

Gardening success depends on the available food elements in the soil. The average fertilizing agent furnishes often but one. And whether the soil is good or poor Vigoro imparts the right amount of foods, and for unusually successful crops.

Vigoro is not smelly, disagreeable to use or bulky—apply it sparingly but often—a little every 2 or 3 weeks—it is easily and quickly applied.

FOR LAWNS

Use "Burgovin Formula Grass Seed"—for seeding a brand new lawn, for patching up bare spots or for broadcasting over an old thin lawn. Burgovin Formula Grass Seed is original, tested seed of unusual fertility and is free from chaff—it contains absolutely no quick-sprouting annual seeds which grow for one season and then die down. Use it for an enduring lawn—it would be hard to find a better grass seed at or near the price.

The best rock garden shrubs are found amongst the evergreens. Juniperus horizontalis and subina are good. The Mugho or Dwarf Mountain Pine and the Dwarf Thuja may be included. The Retinosporas are particularly fine for rock planting, as also the Japanese Yew, taxus cuspidata. These of the dwarf type are particularly useful for slopes of the garden of the larger type.

MAKING HOME VEGETABLE GROWING PROFITABLE

Many home owners have already decided to make a kitchen garden this year and grow at least a part of the family's food requirements. This is an excellent way of applying spare time, for gardening, well done, is profitable as well as an excellent gloom chaser.

The way to get the most out of gardening is to first make a chart of the area you are going to use. Decide what varieties of vegetables you want to plant. This done, plot out your garden on the chart taking into consideration the likes and growing kind of vegetables suited to local characteristics of the different vegetable as outlined in your seed catalogue or on the seed packets. You will find that making the plan isure and feed all of your plants regularly of your garden will be very fasciation as well as a means of helping you succeed. Some of the vegetables you will want to grow mature in three weeks, while others will take eight or more weeks. Plan on making successive plantings of the quick growing kinds. This will assure you a continuous supply all through the growing season and will require less of your garden space. Another way to double up on space is to plant the quick growing kinds between the rows of the slow maturing vegetables. There are four basic rules which you must follow if you are to get the best results from your garden. Rule number one is to select the kind of vegetables suited to local characteristics of the different vegetable as outlined in your seed catalogue or on the seed packets. Rule number three is to be sure and feed all of your plants regularly with a complete balanced plant food. Rule number four is to cultivate often and keep the weeds out.

Today.
Kingston: "It's Tough to Be Famous." Grand entertainment, with a new kind of plot, helped along by the inspired acting of both Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Mary Brian. This show will prove an enjoyable evening's entertainment for both young and old. It has excitement, comedy and a human quality that demands the interest of the audience. The story concerns a young man, who becomes a hero while in the service of his country; and he returns home to find himself a national hero. His life becomes the public's, his time belongs to everybody but himself, he is pampered, petted and idolized. Everything goes along all right until the public begins to become interested in his domestic happiness. This talkie is a fairly authentic study of hero worship as it is being done in these United States. Walter Catlett is also in the cast.

Orpheum: "Shanghai Express" and "Two-Fisted Justice." Marlene Dietrich is starred in this excitingly different story, the action of which takes place aboard a deluxe Orient Express en route to Shanghai. Humans of all creeds and nationalities are aboard the train, and when it is held up by bandits, there is excitement and entertainment of unusual merit. Clive Brook, Anna May Wong, and Warner Oland are also in the cast. "Two-Fisted Justice" offers Tom Tyler in a western thriller. Broadway: "Ladies of the Jury" and "Seven." THE FRENCH ADMIRAL, COUNT OESTLING LEFT IMMEDIATELY FOR AMERICA WITH TWELVE SHIPS. THE INFLUENCE OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN IN SECURING AID OF FRANCE CANNOT BE OVER ESTIMATED.

WASHINGTON SPENT THE WINTER OF 1778-79 AT MIDDLEBURY, NEW JERSEY. THE FALL OF 1778 HAD BEEN SPENT IN STRENGTHENING HIS FORTIFICATIONS. THE PALADARS OF THE HUDSON PLAYED A MOST IMPORTANT PART IN HIS PLANS AND WERE CONTROLLED BY THE AMERICANS DURING A GREAT PART OF THE REVOLUTION. THE CLONE OF 1778 FOUND WASHINGTON AND HIS WIFE IN PHILADELPHIA.

ture offers one of the funniest comedy presentations to grace the screen in some time. The story is laid in a jury room, where one woman and eleven men hold the fate of a prisoner at stake. Edna May Oliver, in the role of the woman juror, is one against many, but before she finishes she not only brings the rest to her point of view, but she also creates enough laughs and chuckles while doing it that the show proves thoroughly enjoyable. There is actually one flaw in this play. The laughs come so thick and fast that the audience may miss some of them. It's clean, noteworthy entertainment, with a cast of real stars. Something to see. The stage show offers seven new acts of vaudeville, musically augmented by Jacob Mollot and his orchestra.

Ritz: "Beast of the City." Walter Huston, Jean Harlow and Wallace Ford give sterling performances in this dramatic picture that shows the obstacles and troubles that the police department of a large city must overcome in their battle against crime. It's a fairly clear-cut picture of the constant battle of law and order against organized crime, brought to the screen in an entertaining and intelligent manner. Good entertainment.

Tomorrow:
 Kingston: Same.
 Orpheum: "Broken Lullaby" and "Trapped in a Submarine." The first is a beautiful moving picture of a French boy who goes to Germany following the war to seek the parents of the German boy he killed in battle, and ask their forgiveness. This picture, under the masterful direction of Ernst Lubitsch, must be classed as one of the finest moving picture offerings of the year. Phillips Holmes, Lionel Barrymore and Nancy Carroll are in the cast. The second picture is story of a group of men who are trapped in a submarine below the surface of the sea.

Business Girls Chose Officers

The Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. held its final supper meeting of the season on Wednesday evening, and much important business was transacted. Miss Hilda Parker, secretary, gave a very comprehensive review of the year's meetings and various activities, beginning with last May and extending throughout the year. Miss Helen Gronemeyer, treasurer, gave her yearly report of all receipts and expenditures and both reports were accepted by the club. Miss Alma Tyler, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the committee's recommendation for next year's officers, and the slate on the motion of Miss Mary Howard was unanimously elected as follows: President, Miss Elsie Phillips; vice president, Miss Elsie Walker; secretary, Miss Ethel Schlecht; treasurer, Miss Dora Pratt. Plans were discussed for the coming budget campaign, and the Business Girls' Club will have two teams, with Miss Beatrice Powley, captain of one, and Miss Ellen Van Slyke and Miss Alma Tyler, co-captains of the other. A goodly sum was voted from the treasury as the club's contribution to the budget.

The conference to be held at Summit Lake in June, of the Business Girls' Clubs of the Y. W. C. A. of the eastern district was discussed and any girls who might be able to attend were asked to get in touch with Miss Van Ert as soon as possible. Miss Powley, the president, thanked the girls most graciously for their cooperation during the past year and wished the club the greatest success for 1932-1933. The girls in turn gave a rising vote of thanks to the retiring officers. Miss Powley also extended an invitation to the club to hold one of its summer picnics at her camp at Ideal Park, which invitation the girls accepted with the greatest pleasure.

There will be no supper next Wednesday evening, but the girls are asked to meet at the Y as usual for bridge and tennis.

Ahavath Israel Ball At Center Tonight

The tenth annual ball and entertainment of the Congregation Aharath Israel will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Downtown Jewish Community Center, which has been artistically decorated for the occasion. The program is made up of 11 numbers as follows: Fred Van Deusen in "Modern Magic"; the Cashin Review Dancing Kiddle; Harold Fisher, songs; George Sikher camp at Ideal Park, which invitation the girls accepted with the greatest pleasure.

There will be no supper next Wednesday evening, but the girls are asked to meet at the Y as usual for bridge and tennis.

Wiltz of Woodstock Has Fine N. Y. Exhibit

(By P. GARDNER CLOUGH)
Woodstock, N. Y., April 27 (Special).—Arnold Wiltz, Woodstock artist, is having an exhibition of his oil paintings in New York this month that shows his progress during the past 10 years. His sponsors are the Woodstock Gallery managers; the two main studio rooms of the Dedan-ning Gallery at 5 East 57th street are given over to the Wiltz land- scapes, where I viewed them this week.
Wiltz has lived at Bearsville, N. Y., for a number of years. While the nature of his painting, that is to say the style and manner of his expres- sion, is far removed from the typi- cally Woodstock manner, his titles testify to the fact that here is an artist who has found material for in- terpretation in his own back yard.
Two canvases are called "Bear- ville, N. Y." and there is a new can- vas painted last year, "Fireman's Hall," which shows in all the glare and light of enlarged portraiture the unattractive corners of that village building. The Ashokan reservoir, the Catskill mountains, local farm- steads, and autumn moods are sub- jects that Wiltz has treated with his analytical talent.
Some of the Dedan-ning canvases have been loaned by collectors for this "ten years of Wiltz" show. Among those who have loaned sep- arate canvases are the Phillips Me- morial Museum, Cincinnati Museum, and G. H. Hutchinson.

I was particularly interested to see what Wiltz had done in the past year; that is to say I wondered how these lean days had touched his ex- pression, whether he was sticking to his high, steadfast purpose in art, and continuing the excellent work begun some years ago.
The canvas "Saddle Post," done in 1932, shows a deft still life fore- ground that is backed by one of the abstract landscapes that Wiltz paints with such a contradictory touch of realism and imagination. Both this, and the painting, "The Lake," done last year, show at a glance how Wiltz has advanced since the time he painted a localized land- scape in the drab colors of "Winter 1925" which though excellent in its composition, lacks the newer power evidenced by the Wiltz of 1931 and '32.
This artist, Arnold Wiltz, has held consistently to his aim for the past eight or ten years. If one can read aright the evidence of this 1932 show. He does not swerve; he im- proves steadily, gaining mastery. His work is characterized by a com- bination of clear-eyed, clear-cut, mathematical formula, and the poetry of emotionalism. Wiltz is a draftsman and a dreamer at the same time. His work is like no other Woodstock painter's work. It is painting that should challenge both conservative and modern camps, displaying an academic training in its technique, and being built on a mod- ern reaction in colour and content.

What Price Art?
What more can one say in favour of Wiltz's painting? Today it is perhaps more in point to ask what use America has for good artists. Three years ago I wrote in my "Woodstock Bulletin," suggesting that a Wiltz water color, or oil painting, would make a sound investment, in dollars and cents. Today the bot- tom has dropped out of our money bags, folks are starving, committing suicide, and we are forced to forget our art and artists. Collectors have stopped buying; individual American citizens have done very little thus far in our history to encourage cul- tural things. Art dealers today are losing both faith and money.
And still, in the face of these con- ditions, I repeat, that a Wiltz paint- ing is a sound investment. How much, may I ask, has your radio, your automobile, decreased in value the past two years? Have you re- fused to own one of that account? Yet an oil painting will not decrease in value in two, or twenty years! If you had bought a Speicher, or a Bellows, two artists of the Wood- stock group, ten years ago, your painting or print would have doubled in value by today! I merely prophesy that Wiltz will be tomor- row's winner! I am not paid to write this, either!
Business men often tell me: "If art doesn't pay, give it up! Go into some other line. A man has got to make a living!"
This present economic panic will take the props from the business man's faith in money. The almighty dollar is playing tricks with its de- votees today. Our depression seems to indicate that man cannot live by money alone. Many of us cling to religion as a spiritual necessity, which proves my contention that ma- terial things are not enough. If we stake our all on possessions of lands and houses and merchandise and bank accounts, and these things are lost, what shall we have left? It is a theme that is in many men's minds today.
I believe that in this connection, a Wiltz art exhibition is symbolic of the growing interest in cultural things in America. Along with others, Wiltz is promoting culture for tomorrow. Maybe he will have to stop painting and grow peanuts on his Bearsville farm for a living; I don't know.
American art is here to stay whether Wiltz raises peanuts or I mow my typewriter! And I believe that Arnold Wiltz is one of the win- ners!
And it does seem that when a man has the talent of some of our best artists, he should be supported in some way by the proceeds of his work. A nation that raises a baili- hoo for the dollar may find that its citizens want something else in their middle age. This is a good depres- sion if it teaches us to live sanely, giving more thought and place to the several fine arts, developing the soul and the spirit along with brawn and brain.

RIFTON.

April 24.—The annual school meeting of District No. 7 will be held at the school house Tuesday evening, May 2.

C. Schuker and daughter, Tesse, visited Washington, D. C., on a pleasure trip.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Grosinger returned from a three-months' tour through the west.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Feiler had relatives from New York City and Brooklyn over the week-end. These were their daughter, Mrs. A. Albee, her baby and her husband, and Fred, Charles and Herbert Streichenwein.

Eleanor Feiler motored to Albany on Sunday to visit her girl friend, Estelle Farrell, who returned with her as Estelle attends Normal School at New Paltz.

Fashion Hands Us the Raspberry in Tones And Expects Us To Like It

CHIFFON AND TWEED AGAIN

New York.—In reading Paris reports of new fashions, and in viewing our own collections, imported and otherwise, one is struck by the persistence with which red stays in the style picture. While the darker wine reds may seem unseasonable at this time, they are the reds most talked of. One of the most unusual combinations is that of red and pink. It can be pretty terrible or very lovely, depending on how good a mixer you are.

Strawberry tones have been talked of and now fashion hands us raspberry and expects us to like it. One cannot fail to find colors interesting this season, for not only are there many new tones but also any number of out-of-the-ordinary color schemes. With navy, beige or black as a base, one may dabble in several dye pots without disastrous results. With red, one has to be a bit more careful but there are several interesting developments, not only in the main pinkish tones but in greens. Wine red with pale green is momentarily to our liking.

While it is a bit early to consider beach ensembles, just bear this wine-red-with-green scheme in mind. Some stunning new suits are developed in it. Need we add that the high waistline is undaunted by the water and wades right in. In fact, the tuckings and appliques and so on that are being used for bathing-suit decorations are placed high so that the high waistline and bustline are emphasized. Striped ties and twisted girdles help produce this effect.

The knee-length, overcoat shows an effective dislocation of color and also shows a very popular coat length. Women seem to have endorsed the knee-length and three-quarter length coat with sleeves of relative length. The bracelet sleeve is winning followers in the dress field while short bell-shaped sleeves often appear in coats. Sleeves such as those shown in the sketch, with one color below and another above the elbow, are also well liked.

(Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild)

The three-quarter length coat is a smart feature of this beige-tweed suit, with wrapped skirt. The brown and beige pointed chiffon of the blouse with bow tie is repeated in lower sleeve section of the coat and in the separate scarf. The wide, vent-like belt is removable and fastens with silk buttons.

Still Looting the Man's Wardrobe

New York.—Seersuckers, which are well known among Southern men for their sturdiness and coolness during torrid weather, have come into their own for women's sports and beach wear. Broadcloth remains a consistent favorite and, this year, is favored in woven stripes and clip-spots. The birds-eye piques (faded in men's formal waistcoats are another feminine requirement. Among other conceits which may be effectively adopted by women is the wash tie to be worn with masculine linen suits. The smartest versions are of a fine quality cotton rep in cravat prints which could be worn smartly with the cotton or linen riding habit.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Leghorn hats are highly thought of, for summer, especially in the natural color, which may be worn with so many different-colored costumes. Irish crochet details, and unusual flowers trim some of the large hats, which also bear generous ribbon bows of tulle, velvet or satin. Printed organdie varies this formula in some instances.

Besides veils, Talbot is using flowers for hat trimming, including macra ones and small feather fancies.

Among the hats in a recent imported collection is one from Rabarux which suggests the sombrero, in its wide, roll-back brim developed in natural Milan. The crown, folded back on either side from the center, is of brown grosgrain. Two brown quills trim it.

In summer silks, the rough ones or quite heavily ribbed silks, the former in monotone, the latter featuring stripes and silk jersey, are advanced. Candy stripes and tiny checks are advocated as correct for silk jersey.

Farm Fragrance Pleases Old Timer

Spoken, April 28.

Editor, The Freeman:

Well, Ed, everything up here is going along as well as can be expected under the circumstances, to employ a familiar phrase used by the family doctor after looking over a patient who might be in a better shape than he is. The red maple buds are showing up among the trees in the woods across the meadow, and the spice-bushes are a sight to look upon, with their mass of plump yellow blossoms. It's a good time to be alive, even though the fodder is scant and the marmoset rolls in as slow and reluctant-like as a dog that's been worrying a polecat.

Speaking of the spice-bush, which gives forth a scent like an apothecary shop when broken or cut, which may be known to some of our readers under another name for all I know, there is the sassafras tree, very common on my farm and possessed of an equally intriguing smell. John Hix told me in his "Strange as it Seems" feature of The Freeman a spell back that leaves of three shapes grow on one stem of the sassafras tree. John is dead right in this case, and knowing this for a fact I am led to believe that all of his strange yarns are bona fide stuff. I'll bet that mighty few city persons knew about this freak of nature till Hix put 'em wise, why, even Marthy who has been a female hayseed for quite some years, allowed that it was a new one for her.

I have heard tell of sassafras trees four feet in diameter at the butt end, but I doubt if there is one in these parts of anywhere near that size. Some of mine will go a foot through, but they are exceptions; mostly, the trees pass off with something or other shortly after it attains firwood girth. It is a mighty pretty tree at all seasons; in winter the deep-furrowed brown bark and green branches are good to look upon; in spring there are velvety leaves of a pale green color, showy bud-scales and golden flowers; in summer there are the rich green leaves of various shapes and sizes, together with red-stemmed cluster of blue berries; finally, in the fall the tree is a riot of red and yellow tints, making an ensemble beautiful to behold. How much more could the aesthete ask for his money. To again paraphrase "Mac Kennedy, What a tree! What a tree!"

The wood of the sassafras is light and of an attractive color. I once saw a huge rustic bed made of the stuff and it was quite showy as well as serviceable. It weighs only about 21 pounds to the cubic foot when dry, so you see it just wouldn't do for stone-boat bottoms and heavy wagon gear. The wood is sometimes turned into palls and buckets, and may be used for fence posts when a feller can't find anything better handy by. Myself, I burn quite a lot of sassafras in the kitchen stove and it gives out a pleasing smell. All of my hen roosts are of these saplings, the idea being that lice don't care to stick around 'em on account of the spicy odor. Sometimes I rank up a leetle sapling, cut off the root, wash it good, and carry same around in my jeans for chewing purposes. Tastes mighty good and is said to be okay for what ails ye.

Well, sir, your Old Timer is like the late President Wilson, in one respect at least. He owned up to having a single-track mind, and when I get to spilling on a certain line I'm likely to hew to it for quite a spell. You know, Mr. Ed, a feller could write a book, mighty interesting as well as highly instructive, dealing entirely with the various odors, essences, scents, exhalations, smells or what will. U together with their strange and even uncanny reactions upon the human brain. You've read, probably, that a whiff of something of other, will bring back to a person, like a flash, the memory of an incident that occurred long years before. Again, maybe you know from experience how a certain dash of perfume on the habiliments of a female of our species will tend to enhance her innate charm, serving upon occasion to inject a bit of romance into the life of even the plainest spinster. It is quite a mysterious and intriguing subject, to be sure, especially to the farmer, whose olfactory is tickled daily by sundry perfumes of excellence, ranging from that of new mown hay to those of the barnyard; the latter, by the way, being as pleasant to the nostrils of your real dirt farmer as cour de Jeanette to the fair debutante.

Now then, to continue along on our single-track express, the verb "smell" is synonymous with sniff, or to sniff up, as you well know. I read a spell ago that the snuff-box is coming back in London, where many prominent men, including the clergyman, have taken up the eighteenth century fad of toting these contraptions and having an occasional dip. This brings to Old Timer memories of the dark-colored jars of snuff on the tobacco shelf in the old village store. These containers were always well plastered with government revenue labels, giving them a very official appearance in the eyes of a callow country youngster. I recall also the picture of a stalwart Indian smoking a long pipe, and the word "Macaboy" printed in large letters. The other day I asked Elwyn, who has run a store here for the last fifty years, if he carried any snuff in stock these days and he said, no he hadn't had a jar in the place in years. Used to sell it aplenty, to elderly women whose consciences forbade them to smoke a cornucopia pipe, but who just had to have a little something potent to make life tolerable in this vale of male duplicity and female tears.

Well, Mr. Ed, if any of our readers look for high lights from down on the farm apropos of whether or not the stock market pool sellers ought to be shot at sunrise, or who the Democrats will nominate on the 28th ballot this year, and such-like, they are doomed to disappointment, at least until I get my mind off one thing and onto another. In poring over an old farm account book which belonged to a forebear who tilled the rock-studded soil of this town a century ago, I find entries of snuff which the old gentleman dealt out to one of the hired help named

Elizabeth. He farmed it on a large scale for these parts, and employed considerable labor, to some of whom he granted a book account, buying things for 'em on his trips to Kingston and chalking it up against their wages. This Elizabeth, who very likely made the butter, tended chickens, fed the calves, hosed some in the garden and did a thousand other things that females are handy at around the place, not a half-pound of snuff every week, at the rate of 35 cents a pound, there is a good chance for our customers to compare current retail quotations on nose-odors with those of 191 years ago. The last January, my ancestor never bought little more than half a pound at a time, whether out of fear lest she go on a sniffing spree or in consideration of the good reputation which his better bore for excellence of flavor and purity of content.

How are things going in the county seat, Mr. Ed? Every time I come down there the stores appear to be middling busy, though I suppose a majority of the customers are just window shopping as they call it. Strange from other sections all tell me that business is worse if anything, and that opinion seems to be supported by what I read in the papers about conditions generally. Well, no use to worry about it, though we ought to keep a-trying to pull out of the mess. Take a cow that has laid down on her milk for a spell, account of eating something in the pasture not good for her, or not feeling up to scratch for some reason or other; it means a loss in milk money till her depression is lifted, but stewing over the matter won't help. Just have to doctor the old girl up, after finding out whether she is ailing in her udder, teats, stomach or wherever. When her eyes brighten up and she gets to chawin' her cud with a relish, then the music of milk hitting tin pail will bring back the good cheer. Yes sir.

I read the other day of a man who swapped his wife to another for a 1911 model fiver, and then a fellow who had a mortgage on the car came along and took it away from him. Well, well; we can't all cut down expenses simply and expeditiously at that, eh? "Woman bitten on the arm," says another item. Such is not news, these days, as a man biting a dog. Merely evidence in divorce proceedings, tending to show that hubby Clark-Gabled, her too much. . . . Yes, we are traveling fast these days on the path of romance; folks appear to yearn more and more for variety in their amours. Occasionally the world is not the Garden of Eden, where Eve teased the serpent and Adam plagued Eve. Grandpa Adam was unique, in that he was probably the only man who spoke the truth when he told his mate that she was the only woman he ever made love to.

Well, Mr. Ed, it is getting late, both by sun time and fool, so I'll quit chawin' my pencil stub and make for bed. Next time you'll hear about my two fine Guernsey calves, pedigreed stock, and other matters still on my chest.

Yours truly,

OLD TIMER.

Decide to Levy Tax On Federal Employees

Washington, April 28 (AP)—After deciding on a 10 per cent income tax on salaries of the president of the United States and federal judges, the Senate Finance Committee yesterday adopted further levying of the big new tax bill, tackling its earlier action.

Cottage Prayer Meeting

Under the auspices of the Upper Room Mission there will be a cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mrs. Schaefer and Mrs. Bailey, 215 West Chester street, Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock. The Rev. C. V. W. Bedford will be in charge.

Fat Men

I don't care how fat you are or how much you hate to get out and walk a couple of miles. If you will take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salt in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast for a week and cut down on pastries, sugar and fatty meats.

You will feel so good—so energetic and the urge for activity will be so great that you will immediately enjoy a daily walk of several miles and lose fat.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings.

Just try one bottle of Kruschen Salt; it will last you 4 weeks and costs but a trifle. After you have taken one bottle the old man (that won't hold you any more)—you'll enjoy work—you'll sleep like a top and by reducing surplus fat probably live years longer.

A man from Richmond Hill, N. Y., writes: "After 2 bottles of Kruschen, I removed 3 inches from my belt, lost 25% more active, and in 4 weeks, eruptions have disappeared. Am 45 years old and feel 20 years younger. I get up feeling 100%." Kruschen sure is great!

To take off fat harmlessly and SAFELY, take as directed above—don't worry—it's the safe way to reduce. But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salt, and then at McEldu Drug Store or any drug store in the world and if the results one bottle brings—do not justly satisfy you—why bother back.

Fire at Gardiner

The large house on the Dr. Stephens' place, at Gardiner, recently purchased by the late Raphael Cohen of New York, and operated as a summer boarding house, was almost totally destroyed by fire early Monday morning. The house was furnished but unoccupied. Although the fire was well under way when discovered, the fire department was at work within a few minutes, so that no other buildings ignited. The stillness of the night averted what might have been a much worse fire.

A Cafeteria Supper

The Westminster Guild of the Roundout Presbyterian Church will hold a cafeteria supper in the chapel on Wednesday evening, May 4, at 5:30 o'clock.

Triangle Club Hears of Great Need

There were but few absentees at the regular weekly meeting of the Kingston Triangle Club Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. and everyone agreed that it was a real meeting in every way.

The singing was especially fine under the efficient leadership of General Secretary Clarence Schoonmaker with Dan Butcher at the piano. The new song sheets furnished by Warren Smith were used.

After enjoying the fine dinner prepared by Mrs. Bailey and served by Miss Phyllis Eastman and Miss Verma Van Dusen, Vice President G. Warren Smith introduced as his guest Richard Whiston of the high school faculty who received a warm welcome from the members.

Howard N. Smith, the speaker for the evening, was introduced by Dr. Julian I. Gifford, and delivered a powerful address on "America's Greatest Need." Outlining the history of the United States from the days of George Washington up until the present, Mr. Smith clearly and logically proved that the greatest need today was the bringing up of the youth of today so they will be God fearing, law abiding men and women of tomorrow. Every organization, Mr. Smith said, dealing with young people should be heartily supported by every right thinking person and especially in these days of depression. The address was well received and heartily applauded.

Next week every member is expected to be present as the officers are endeavoring to make the meetings just as attractive as possible. A special five minute vaudeville stunt will be featured as a special added attraction and will be staged by Merton McLoughlin, William Mellert and Ernest LeFevre, in addition to a special program in observance of National Boys' Week.

PLATTEKILL GRANGE ACTIVITIES ANNOUNCED

Plattekill, April 28.—At the regular meeting of the Plattekill Grange held on Saturday evening, applications were received for a class of candidates to be initiated in the first and second degrees on May 14. The play committee reported net receipts of $71.35 from play held last week.

The second edition of the Grange newspaper, "The Plattekill Pilgrim," was distributed and the supply of copies exhausted.

Final plans were made for a minstrel show to be given for the benefit of the Grange baseball team recently organized by the lecturer.

The program was enjoyed by a large number of patrons and guests. Senator A. H. Wicks of Kingston, was the guest speaker of the evening and delivered an interesting talk on taxation. Senator Wicks was introduced by Fred Stang. Other speakers on the program were C. I. Thompson, who spoke on "Equalization of Property Valuation," and J. M. Chase, who spoke on "Local Taxes." The Grange quartet, Mrs. Harold Mills, Miss Elizabeth Fowler, Myron Foster and Charles Everett, rendered two selections. Farm Bureau Manager Albert Kurdt was present and gave some fitting remarks.

The 4-H Club community group meeting held at the Grange Hall on Tuesday evening was largely attended.

The cast of characters presented "Has Anyone Seen Jean?" in Wallkill Community Hall on Wednesday evening.

On Monday evening, May 2, the first rehearsal for the minstrel show will be held, starting promptly at 8 o'clock, daylight saving time.

On Thursday evening, May 5, the first and second degree team will meet at the Grange Hall for rehearsal.

The service and hospitality committee will hold a card party at the Grange Hall on Saturday evening, May 7. All Grangers and their friends are invited.

DRY BROOK

Dry Brook, April 28.—Mrs. George Moore of Seager is spending some time with her daughter in New York city.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fairbairn is slowly convalescing from her recent illness. The Rev. and Mrs. Howard were guests of Mrs. Cecil Graham last week Thursday. Mrs. Graham was hostess to church fair workers on same day. Sixteen were present at dinner, which netted about $6. The money will be used in church fair work.

A fire which started near the house of Roy Todd one day last week caused quite a bit of excitement. Mrs. Todd, upon discovering that the fire was beyond her control, rushed to Seager School house, this being the nearest place. The teacher and pupils hurried to her aid and the fire was soon under control.

Charles M. Todd, superintendent of highways, with a force of men, is busy repairing Todd Hill road which was damaged by recent storms.

Dave Williams, state conservation officer, was in this place looking after telephone lines. The switch having been taken out at home of Ned Todd, the Beaverkill line was connected up with main line to Margaretville.

Mike Todd has begun his duties as fire warden on Balsam Mountain observatory.

Mrs. Jay Gould and family spent the week-end at Forge Cottage.

A burning chimney at the home of Miss Kate Ackerly did quite some damage. Smoke caused damage in rooms which had only recently been decorated.

The Misses Mary Haynes and Magdalena Stewart joined the Girl Scouts on a hiking trip from Margaretville to Arena Saturday.

Trophy at Mohican State
The handsome trophy won by the Mohican bowling team in the Colonial League is now on display at the Mohican store on John street. This trophy stands two feet high and is engraved with the name of the winning team.

Sir Hubert Wilkins Enthralls Hearers

Naught, Sir Wilkins thought seriously of a third and this time it would be a submarine. There were many difficulties to overcome. First, obtaining a submarine; second, the expense was tremendous, and third, to find experts in submarine affairs to command the craft.

To begin with Sir Wilkins went to the authorities of the United States Navy to see if he could persuade them to give him a submarine for his trip. The naval leaders thought his idea absurd and as much as told Sir Wilkins that the navy had been reading went to his head, but the explorer admitted that he had not read Jules Verne until after his preparations were made for the Arctic trip.

Sir Wilkins had some talk to do in order to prove to the U. S. Navy that his plans were practical. Question, such as, the ice is hundreds of feet thick and is frozen solid. But this is not true for the Arctic ice is but three or four feet thick with a few spots as much as eight or ten. Then the question of icebergs arose, but there are no icebergs in the Arctic. They come from the coast of Greenland.

With everyone convinced, the U. S. Navy gave him a submarine that was remodeled in the Philadelphia Navy Yard, where tons of instruments were installed and apparatus added on.

So they left Philadelphia, went to New York and then to New London testing the craft by diving in the Sound. From New London they started across the Atlantic. They had some trouble with engines and ended up by being towed by a U. S. battleship to the Irish coast. There repairs were made and after a visit to England, started north and with the exception of a few stops headed toward the pole.

It was mentioned before that the expedition was two and one-half months behind schedule and when then came within 450 miles of the pole, conditions and the time of the year were not those they looked for and this was one of the big reasons they turned back. Also the diving rudder had been torn off, which led to some difficulty. However, dives were made by filling the tanks in the head and rear of the submarine.

So an expedition returned with about 30 men soaked with oil but with many things accomplished. They proved for one a submarine could be navigated safely under the Arctic ice.

GIRL SCOUTS GET "LOU HENRY HOOVER" TREE

Washington, April 28 (AP).—The Girl Scouts "Little House", already rich in mementoes of the President's wife, today added to the collection a "Lou Henry tree" on the front lawn.

It was a California redwood from Fort Bagg, 200 miles north of San Francisco, and three Californians helped in its planting—Mrs. Hoover herself and Secretaries Wilbur and Mrs. Wilbur.

The tree-planting was a national symbol of spring housecleaning and fixing-up-the-place for all Girl Scoutdom. In 257 Girl Scout "Little House", 300,000 girls are preparing for "better homes in America weeks."

The scouts got their national headquarters close to the White House as an aftermath of the first "better home" week, for which the picturesque little structure was originally built.

Before she became the President's wife, Mrs. Hoover helped in the planting of all furnishings of the house, which is a copy of the cottage which inspired the song "Home Sweet Home."

Assembly Programs
During Boys' Week

Included in the various events of Kingston's observance of boys' week will be the appropriate programs held in the assemblies of the city's schools. Following is a list of the speakers as announced by Prof. B. C. Van Ingen, members of the boys' work committee, and the schools where they will speak:

Warren G. Kins, School No. 1, Friday morning.
William Hettman, School No. 2, Wednesday morning.
Neland H. Fuller, School No. 3, Wednesday morning.
Carlton Foster, School No. 4, Wednesday morning.
Allan Lewis, School No. 5, Wednesday morning.
William Wright, School No. 6, Wednesday morning.
George E. Lowe, School No. 7, Thursday morning.
Clarence Schoonmaker, School No. 8, Wednesday morning.

Judge B. A. Cullison, High School Assembly, Wednesday morning.
The dates of boys' week are May 1 to 7. The movement was first started in 1920 by the Rotary Club in New York city. It has steadily grown until in 1931 it was observed generally throughout the world.

The boys' work committee at the Y. M. C. A. has taken into consideration the special period and has planned a number of events for the week which will help to focus the attention of the city upon its boys while at the same time giving a number of boys opportunities to set forth their ideas and ideals. Some of the city's churches will have special boys' programs, service clubs will have boy speakers, the community father and son banquet will be held at the Y. M. C. A., there will be exhibits and the special programs in the school assemblies.

A track and field meet had been planned for May 7, but the committee now feels that it be best to dispense with this feature for this year because there is no suitable place to hold it.

CALLS FOR NOMINATION OF OWEN D. YOUNG

Little Falls, N. Y., April 28 (AP).—Speaking editorially as Owen D. Young's "old home town paper," The Little Falls Times today called for the democratic nomination for the presidency of Mr. Young.

"Recent developments have indicated the possibility of a deadlock at the Chicago convention, the paper said, adding 'in such event, the following of Jefferson in seeking a candidate on whom they might agree, a strong man, who would carry into the campaign an appealing personality as well as a magnificent equipment for high office, might well look toward Mr. Young.'"

The chairman of the board of the General Electric and author of the Young plan for foreign debt adjustment lives at Van Hornesville, near Little Falls. John Crowley, editor of the Times, and Mr. Young have been friends.

The Times declared it took the privilege of advancing Mr. Young "because it is the local paper for the town of Stark. Mr. Young's voting residence, and therefore, considers its relation to Mr. Young as that of the old home town paper."

Anticipating a criticism of Young because of his connection with "big business," the paper said:

"The laboring classes would find in this representative of 'big business' a man who rose from humble plow boy to be one of the world's outstanding figures. Spoken for by the masses have advocated a 'living wage.' Mr. Young has spoken of a 'cultural wage' which implies something better than a 'living wage.' Strange words from a capitalist but words that come from the heart of Owen D. Young."

Recall Fatal Leap Of Bridge Jumper

Umbrella Mender, Who Jumped to His Death From Withur Bridge in 1897, Hailed as an Unknown Government Now Checking Up His Death.

In 1897, just thirty-five years ago, an umbrella mender paused in his walk across the Withur railroad bridge, laid his park of umbrellas down on the bridge, and then with a look to the right and a look to the left he leaped out into space into the water of the Rondout creek. He was gashed out of the water by those who saw him leap, and hurried to the Kingston Hospital where he died without revealing his identity.

All that is known about him is that he was an umbrella mender. Where he came from, where he lived or what his name was is shrouded in mystery.

Now after thirty-five years have elapsed since his fatal jump from the bridge a government investigator from the pension department at Washington is in Kingston seeking the details of the man's death and if possible to find out his identity.

It seems that the reason for the investigation is that a woman has applied for a pension and believes that the man who leaped to his death from the Withur bridge is her long-lost missing husband.

The investigator, Mr. Cole, was at the Board of Health office at the city hall this morning and a search of the records show that the bridge jumper was buried as an unknown. His remains were interred in St. Mary's cemetery. The late Dr. Buckley was coroner at the time and issued the certificate permitting the burial of the body.

FIND NEW TREATMENT FOR PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

Cincinnati, April 28 (AP).—Once more the humble swing comes to human aid—this time in a pernicious anemia treatment announced today by the University of Cincinnati.

Gastric juice from hog stomachs administered by hypodermic needle into the muscles gives speedy relief to human anemia sufferers according to Dr. Roger S. Morris, professor of internal medicine.

Today's announcement follows less than two months one about the same Cincinnati work in the Journal of the American Medical Association telling how human gastric juice relieves pernicious anemia. Discovery of the potency of the hog extract, the new announcement states, opens a ready source for obtaining the gastric material.

The latest development at Cincinnati is not claimed as a demonstrated cure but as a treatment of promise.

The Cincinnati report states that the gastric solutions have given almost immediate results in increasing the number of red blood cells, their hemoglobin, or red pigment, in gain of strength, weight and general health.

The Town Was Money Mad

By Adelaide B. Hall

WATERTOWN was one of those day mountain villages so common in the Smokies. A post office, a couple of general merchandise stores, two or three country boarding houses that took summer visitors, a handful of struggling mountain families, magnificent scenery.

The few summer people who came to the boarding houses were almost as poor in their way as the mountain folk were in taste. Stragglers they were, and clerks with two weeks off and scarcely enough money to finance even so short vacation.

"If somebody would come along and put up a decent hotel here," they would say, "he could make a real thing of this place. There's a big river and good views, but as it is nobody can stand the place. This is my last trip here."

But, of course, it wasn't. The same old crowd came back each year because it was cheap. The country folk knew nothing but privation and skimping, skimping. They raised a little food on their rocky, hilly pieces of land and occasionally drove a cow or calf some forty miles to the nearest city to be sold for a few dollars. The older folk were insured to the conditions, the younger ones who could, left, the others became weary in the futile struggle for existence.

"It don't seem right," said Joe Wilson desperately to his fiancée. "When a man's willin' to work he ought to have the chance. There ain't nothin' I can do to make some money so's we could get married. Seems like I can't stand it any more, honey. If I could only leave home like Bill and John, but there's Ma flat on her back and she can't stand not to be turned every few hours. She gets to burin' so."

Mary crept a little closer to her lover and her grip tightened over his big rough hand.

"It'll work out all right some way, don't you reckon? We'll just wait till somethin' turns up."

"But Mary, I can't. I'm plumb wore out with waitin'!" His voice broke on the words and suddenly he rose, caught her to him almost roughly, held her for a moment in a frenzy of despair then let her go.

"Honey, it's drivin' me crazy. I ain't comin' back till I can marry you," he said as he turned and walked swiftly away.

As she stood there, straining her eyes to see in the dim light a swift loneliness swept over her and a sense of irrevocable loss. If he could only have understood that she would rather be hungry all the time and watch over his old mother and turn her and feed her—anything rather than to be left without him. It was like dying yet still being alive.

As fall came and the long winter set in Mary grew restless and weary with waiting.

And all the time without a single glimpse of Joe.

Then at last came spring. Softly, swiftly it stole over the mountains, touched the bare trees with its magic wand. With spring came some strange men to Watertown. They surveyed and measured and dickered and bought. Joe's little place was in the tract they wanted so they bought it, too, and gave him more money for it than he had ever seen in his whole life before. The day he sold he rushed up the mountain side to Mary's little cabin and, breathless, he caught her in his arms in an ecstasy of joy. "Mary, it's comin', it's comin'!" he exclaimed wildly.

Mary had no idea what was coming, but her dance's joy was contagious and the mere sight of him was enough to make her happy after the months of hopeless waiting. In a moment he had told her all and had gone rushing back down the hill, leaving her standing in the doorway, bewildered, speechless, her sudden happiness almost suffocating her.

On the heels of the buyers came huge shovels that bit at the earth like giant monsters. All day long they roared and screamed for weeks. Those at last gave way to the bricklayers and carpenters and by the end of summer an enormous building stood where last year had been only trees and a tiny house or two. And across the brick building was a sign which read: United Blanket Factory No. 4.

Joe worked from the first day, faithfully, happily, digging dirt, carrying brick, mixing concrete. A new purpose could be seen in his face and a new hope was in his heart. In early September, he and Mary were married. Later he got a permanent job in the boiler room while Mary carried in one of the big airy rooms upstairs with dozens of other girls from the hills. With part of the money they made, they hired an old woman to take care of Joe's mother. The two country stores put in a stock of silk underwear, cosmetics, and cheap silk dresses. Youth primped and laughed and loved.

Property had come to the hills and with it new life and joy and happiness to the country folk. Joe and Mary sang as they went home from work together—home to one of the little mill houses that had electric lights and running water.

But people passing through on the trains grumbled and said:

"They raised a beautiful summer resort when they made Watertown into a mill village."

Financial And Commercial

New York, April 25 (AP).—The stock market showed decided signs of recovery today, after laboring slowly higher for four successive sessions, a record of sustained firmness not duplicated since the first week of March.
After a night's upturn in the early dealings, the market drifted into a slow rise that carried several issues off 1 to 2 points by early afternoon. A few issues registered wider losses. There was a notable absence of important liquidation, however.
Alaska Juneau was again a soft spot, dipping 2 points to below 50. Auburn was also a soft spot, breaking 4 points to 25. U. S. Steel Common eased only a fraction, but losses of a point or more appeared in such shares as American Can, American Telephone, North American, Allied Chemical, Duffell, Union Carbide, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, New York Central, National Biscuit, Coca Cola, Corn Products, Eastman, Case and others. The Bethlehem Steel issues were about steady, in advance of the directors' meeting after the close.
From a long range viewpoint, the market appeared to be merely continuing the sideways movement of the past fortnight, and brokers were inclined to hope for little more than a quiet, highly discriminatory trading market for the nearby future, at least.
The money market continued to reflect the pumping out of credit by the Federal Reserve System, and there was again some expectation that the directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank might pick this week for cutting the rediscount rate further. In some banking quarters, the opinion was expressed that the charge made by Senator Norbeck that banks were pursuing a deflationary policy by refusing to extend credit, might have a good moral effect and aid in the credit expansion program of the reserve system.

Village Threatened By Fire
Auburn, N. Y., April 25 (AP).—The business section of Weedsport, village of 1,400 population ten miles north of here, was threatened early today as fire caused $15,000 damage and gave village firemen a four-hour fight. The two-story frame block owned by Nick Sciarola was destroyed and two upper floors of the three-story brick block owned by Peter Capolupo were badly damaged.

Leading Bankers
May Be Called

Washington, April 25 (AP).—Strong indications presented themselves today that leading bankers may be called in the senate's stock exchange inquiry to answer charges that they are largely responsible for the recent tremendous liquidation of securities.
After the new steering committee made secret plans yesterday for its future conduct, Chairman Norbeck, the Republican independent from South Dakota, issued a vigorous statement assailing the big commercial banks for failing to pass on the new expanded credit with which the Federal Reserve System is seeking to infuse new life into the country's business.
Norbeck charged the banks with thwarting the will of President Hoover and congress, and with extensive hoarding. He based the accusation largely on the great shrinkage in the total of loans on securities made by Federal Reserve member banks during recent weeks. From March 9 to April 29 they show a continuous decline amounting in all to $299,000,000. In contrast during the past three weeks, Norbeck said, the reserve system has "manufactured credit wholesale."
His statement carried the definite threat that if "these banks keep on forcing liquidation and refuse credit made available to them" he would recommend that the banking committee, making the stock investigation, go into this angle fully.
"If this liquidation continues," he continued, "we must find out what part the bankers are playing in forcing down the value of American property to 'junk' prices. The bear raiders are bad enough; the bankers should not help them!"
Secret planning was resumed by the committee today in preparation for further hearings, and there was an expectation agents would be dispatched to New York to go through brokerage house records without any previous announcement.

Federal Agents Made
Seizures in 4 Cities

Agents from the Kingston prohibition office were busy in Monticello, Middletown, Port Jervis and Hudson Wednesday. The two Hudson seizures, one of which included a still in operation, were followed by arrangements before Commissioner Connelly today. The other defendants were arraigned before Commissioner Northrop in Newburgh.
The still was seized at 441 Columbia street, Hudson, and with it the agents took complete equipment and alleged whiskey, wine, home brew and rye mash. Julia Hamy was arrested. The other seizure was at The Corner Tavern, Seventh and Columbia streets, Hudson, and consisted of alleged apple and rye whiskey, gin and beer. Harry Ellsworth was placed under arrest.
At 10 Landfield avenue, Monticello, Harry Maslofsky was arrested on a charge of possession and sale of alleged Scotch, apple and rye whiskey and beer seized.
Joseph Dunn of 47 Railroad avenue, Port Jervis and Frank McKane, Jr., of 75 Railroad avenue, Middletown, were arrested, beer being seized at both places.

Economy Bill Laid
Aside By House

Washington, April 28 (AP).—The house today temporarily laid aside the economy bill to dispose of the $327,000,000 naval supply bill and the Democratic tariff bill.
Speaker Garner said, however, the house would meet again tonight to expedite action on the economy measure.
Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee will ask the house to agree to the senate amendments to the tariff bill depriving the President of his power to change import duties under the flexible provision of the Smoot-Hawley act and restoring it to congress.
On the navy supply bill, a separate record vote is to be had on the $1,000,000 appropriation for the naval hospital at Philadelphia.

News of Today
In Kingston

April 27, 1932.—Snow and cold snap. Here is an annotation that is worthy of a place in the diary. Sprinkling of things broke, spring must be considered. In some sections of the city freezing weather was reported during the night.
Today is the birthday anniversary of James Murray, president of the United States. He was born 173 years ago, in 1759.
It isn't often now days that one has the treat of seeing a tandem, or two seated bicycle. Well there was one being operated up Washington avenue the other night by a man, seated on the rear seat. It's real hard to steer a tandem from the rear seat. If you don't think so try a couple of bikes together and try it.
It seems that in all sections people are observing child health week. It wouldn't be a bad idea to start something like that around here.
Out on the Wilbur road where the Welcome Arch was torn down recently, the road is being widened. In making the width greater an old stone wall was torn down that for many years was a hazard to traffic. Part of the wall had fallen down and its blunt end was in such a spot where it was most dangerous. That was where the road turned slightly to the left after coming under the arch toward Kingston.
This very spot had been the scene of many an accident and this very stone wall was the thing hit. It would be easy to run into the wall if coming at a good rate of speed and not being familiar with the little left turn.
However, this obstacle is removed and traveling over this road a little more safe.

Marking Out Safety
Zones at Crossings

In anticipation of the usual summer rush of traffic the city officials are getting the main routes of travel through the city properly marked out with white safety zones at crossings. On Broadway a center line of white has been painted to keep traffic in its proper lane.
Many motorists delight in "beating the line" by driving in the center of the street as they leisurely enjoy the scenery while paying no attention to the horns of motorists who follow in the rear intent on getting somewhere. Frequently these drivers pursue their ten mile an hour course up Broadway on pleasant evenings unimpeded by the cars behind and with no regard for the rule of the road which requires slow moving vehicles to keep to the right so as to permit traffic to pass. This "dog in the manger" attitude of some drivers has been responsible for many near crashes when drivers cut out of a slow moving line of traffic to the left in an attempt to pass some driver who insists on holding the middle of the road instead of keeping to the curb while enjoying a leisurely tour of the city.

House Passes Naval Appropriation Bill

Washington, April 28 (AP).—The house today passed the $326,000,000 naval appropriation bill after defeating a motion to send it back to committee for a ten per cent cut.
The house today rejected, by a vote of 122 to 111, an allotment of $1,000,000 for the navy hospital at Philadelphia as carried in the naval appropriation bill.
SIDNEY HARRIS VICTIM OF BURGLAR'S PISTOL.
New York, April 28 (AP).—Two bullets from a burglar's pistol killed Sidney Harris, 22-year-old professional boxer and former New York University football player, today.
Late last night Harris surprised a burglar crouching in the bathroom of his Bronx apartment. He leaped upon the intruder and as he did, two bullets hit him in the abdomen.
Robert Kammer, 22, of Syracuse, N. Y., was in another room. He rushed in and wrenched the gun from the hand of the burglar, who broke away and fled down a fire escape, leaving a trail of blood which indicated he had been injured in the struggle.
Harris died before dawn today.

SHORT SEA CRUISE BUSINESS BOOMING

Tourists Desert Atlantic Lines for South Seas.

New York.—Hard times are booming the "short haul" cruise business. The steamship companies that have New Lines, many of them have from the once crowded but now all but deserted transatlantic lines, are holding the teeming feet of the South Seas, Cuba and Central and South American ports all over the world. New Lines are entering the scramble for "cheaper feed" every season.

It is an ill trade wind that blows no steamship line good in these times of changing business methods and standards.

A survey of the different lines terminating here revealed that the number of tourist passengers making the four or five-day vacation trips between this port and such favorite playgrounds as Nassau, Havana and the "Zona" during the winter just past will probably double those of the previous winter.

None of the competing companies is willing to furnish exact figures on its business and some of them indicated that they had even suffered a decrease but the consensus of "gossips" was that when the final returns are in a good 50 per cent jump in cruise profits will be disclosed.

Part of the increase is, of course, at the expense of transatlantic travel. The depression has made European fares too expensive for hundreds of tourists formerly able to stand the strain and many of these which have led to take the count are compensating on little flyers to nearby ports. For instance, statistics show that only $24,000 fare-paying passengers made the trip between European and American ports last year against a total of 1,258,630 in 1930 and 1,139,910 the year before. Passport figures to June 30, 1931, were $2,323 (excluding 17,473 renewals), as compared with 145,466 "to June 30, 1930." In 1929 the total was 126,830 and in 1928 it was 120,308.

But a good share of the "short haul" increase can be traced to the growing popularity of the "ocean vacation" idea with the rank and file. Thousands, literally, who never dreamed of being able to take a trip to Europe in the old days have discovered to their great joy in the last two or three years that a little "run down to the Bermudas" or some other nearby port is well within their reach and that it costs no more in the long run than a vacation spent at some of the more popular playgrounds of this country.

Film Studio's Arsenal

Looked Into by Police

New York.—The gun cabinet in the property department of the Paramount film studio here resembles a veritable gangster's arsenal. One hundred and three revolvers, ranging from Lugers to "22's," hang on numbered hooks. Blank cartridges to fit every gun are found in a nearby drawer. Rifles and shotguns of every description can be found in another compartment.

The New York police department makes a checkup of the arsenal two or three times a month. One permit covers the whole collection, but every gun must be accounted for and a report made of its use when the inspector comes around.

Successful Flight Made

in Wingless Airplane

London.—A successful flight in a wingless airplane was made by Juan de la Cierva, Spanish inventor of the autogyro, according to the Sunday Express.

The new plane is reported to be small enough to be housed in an ordinary motor-car garage.

The ship is understood to be able to rise vertically from a roof-top and yet has so little wind resistance that it will shoot through the air at great speed.

Pay for Wives in Cattle in Africa

Cape Town.—South Africa's wife market is undergoing a depression and modern methods are being used by fathers who wish to dispose of daughters and be paid in cows. The prices still fluctuate and a fat girl brings more cows than a thin one. For the slimming idea has been rejected. The slump in marriages is severe, because would-be suitors could not deliver the bovines.

Prospective fathers-in-law with supplies of eligible daughters are now offering especially attractive terms. One can obtain immediate delivery by paying one cow down and promising the rest at the rate of one a year. The suitor will find, though, that the father-in-law insists upon security. Any girl babies become his property until the wife is paid for.

Men and Women Readers, as Novelist Sees Them

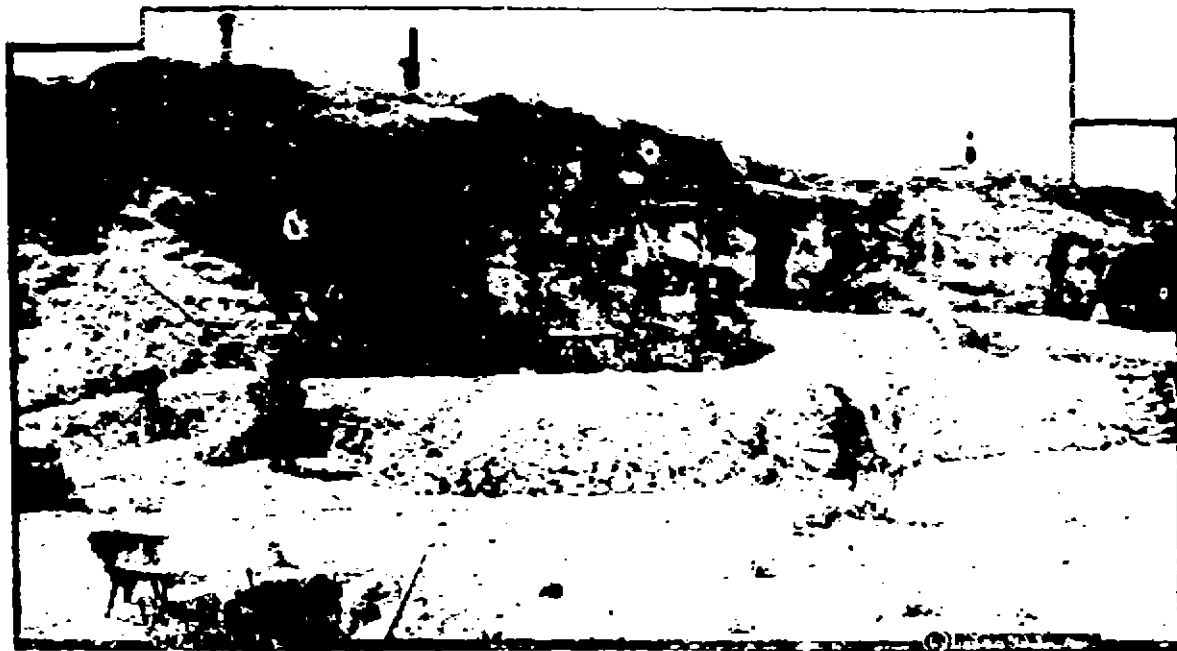

The extent of the average woman in the United States is still without variety or romance, says a novelist. The novelist's opinion is that the average woman is not happy.

There is a great deal of life in a woman, between her life and her thoughts, her day's activities and her inner life. The novelist's opinion is that the average woman is not happy. There is a great deal of life in a woman, between her life and her thoughts, her day's activities and her inner life. The novelist's opinion is that the average woman is not happy.

A sentimental novel, in such a case, would be one where the story is the romance of the woman's life, and the novelist's opinion is that the average woman is not happy. There is a great deal of life in a woman, between her life and her thoughts, her day's activities and her inner life. The novelist's opinion is that the average woman is not happy.

Men, when they read at all are different. They are not so general as the general classification is possible. Sometimes, engaged with my book, I think men read mostly to discover the numbers of mistakes in the books they examine. Joseph Hergesheimer in the American Mercury.

Leaving No "Stone" Unturned to Provide Homes

THESE sport model apartments, carved from solid stone at Shoreham, Calif., are the last word in house-proof style. They consist of from one to three rooms and possess the usual equipment of living and in summer and winter in water. They are carved for rather, blasted from the rock in the shape of a canyon wall, and are carved by mining men and prospectors, tunnellers, which run up through the rock like a ventilation. Then the adjoining garage is built from the rock. The colony cliff-dwellers' mode of living is highly reminiscent of that of the old Pueblo Indians of former days.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

For a team shot with injury and illness, the Chicago Cubs have managed thus far to get around surprisingly well in the National League.

They stood at the head of the class today, a half game ahead of the Boston Braves, and they have made their upward surge despite the fact that three of their greatest stars, Haren Currier, Elwood English and Burleigh Grimes have been out of the lineup.

Even with Grimes, world series hero, too ill to start in the opening weeks, the Cubs have received the steadiest pitching in the league. Eight of twelve pitchers have gone the route.

Lance Richbourg, obtained from Boston, has been filling Currier's outfield spot in the lineup, and Bill Jurges has done so well at short stop English will have a hard time jarring him loose.

Each knocked across two runs yesterday as the Hornsbymen rang up their fifth straight win at Pittsburgh's expense, 8 to 4. Pat Malone had a bad first inning, in which the Pirates batted him for four hits and as many runs, but he settled down to allow them only one blow the last eight frames. He and Richbourg each hit a home run.

As the Boston Braves were held indoors by cold weather, the victory put the Cubs in front.

Reds Beat Cards.
The one other National League tilt saw the Cincinnati Reds, battling to keep away from their old basement berth, slug out a 6 to 4 win over the Cardinals.

George Grantham hit four singles and Babe Herman came through with two singles and a double to lead the assault on Sylvester Johnson.

The American League leadership also changed hands, the Yankees squeezing ahead by the process of remaining idle while the Detroit Tigers dropped a 4 to 3 decision to Chicago. The White Sox committed six errors, three of which figured in the Detroit scoring, but Sam Jones managed to keep ahead until the ninth inning. Then, when the Tigers threatened, his old Washington mate, "Bump" Hadley, went to the rescue and struck out two men to end the game with the bases loaded.

Averill Gets Homer.
Wes Ferrell limited St. Louis to five hits in registering his fourth straight victory, 7 to 1. Earl Averill led the Cleveland assault on Stewart with a home run and a double.

The cold wave that has curtailed the major league program this week held on at New York and Philadelphia. Walt Johnson, between snow flurries at New York, predicted his Washington Senators would win the flag.

Yesterday's STARS

(By The Associated Press.)

"Bump" Hadley, White Sox—Relieved Sam Jones in last of ninth and struck out last two Detroit batters with bases loaded.

Wes Ferrell, Indians—Held the Browns to five hits and hung up his fourth straight victory.

Pat Malone, Cubs—Gave up only one hit after wobbly first inning and hit home run in beating the Pirates, 8 to 4.

George Grantham, Reds—Hit four singles and scored twice to help capsize the Cardinals, 6 to 4.

Quebec—Billy Bartush, 224, Los Angeles, took two out of three falls from Stanley Pinta, 218, Pittsburgh (Bartush 14:48; Pinta 6:06; Bartush 4:52); Louis Loew, 200, France, and Young Hackenschmidt, 210, Hackenschmidt, N. J., drew in 30 minutes.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The major leagues may have been a trifle jittery over the business prospects for 1932, in advance of the getway, but the first few weeks have been reassuring to the managers, thanks mainly to the sudden display of winning form by such erstwhile rear-guard outfits as Cincinnati, Detroit, the Chicago White Sox, Philadelphia Nationals and Boston Braves.

From the box-office viewpoint, nothing could be sweeter than the early showing of the under-dogs, especially in towns where the gate receipts fell off so substantially as they did in Detroit and Cincinnati last year.

The nation-wide interest in baseball appears no less than ever. Babe Ruth's minor aches and pains, as well as his home runs, remain front page news in the sport extras. The box scores are being studied with more enthusiasm, at least, than the stock market tabulations. It's a spring tonic to hear the old arguments popping up again about Grover and Ferrell, Simmons and Ruth, Grimes and Wilson.

Marathoners Old Lot.
Paul de Bruyn's sensational victory over the best American marathoners in the Boston road classic is far from being a fluke.

You may recall that these columns some time ago pointed to the slow but nevertheless steady advance of this 24-year-old German boy, whose one mission in life now seems to be to capture the Olympic marathon for the good old fatherland.

Marathon running has to be next door to an obsession for its participant to get anywhere. Success generally means the devotion of the better part of a man's athletic lifetime. As we have remarked before, the Finns, best of all distance running clans, don't think much of a marathon candidate until he gets around 40 years of age.

De Bruyn's rise at so early an age, therefore, is remarkable testimony to the faithfulness of his training and concentration over the past few years. He is 12 years younger than Paavo Nurmi, who also has his heart set on winning the long romp at Los Angeles. Their condition being equal, Nurmi would have the edge over the German at any distance because of his speed and training, but the latter has shown remarkable improvement.

De Bruyn is short, somewhat thick-set. His stride, of course, does not compare with Nurmi's, but he may have more endurance than the celebrated Finn. On top of that, the German has developed speed by consistent training at the intermediate distances, 10 to 15 miles, over the roads.

Can't Change Colors.
Some of the experts suggested that de Bruyn, after running for his native land this summer at Los Angeles, may take out citizenship papers and return the compliment by running for the United States in the 1936 Olympics in Berlin.

This would be a good trick, if he could do it, but the Olympic rules quite clearly prevent an athlete representing one nation from ever competing for another country.

Jimmie Henigan, the local-born New Englander, who followed de Bruyn to the finish in front of the Boston A. A. clubhouse, apparently will be the No. 1 U. S. hope in the Olympics. He, too, has improved with age, though it now appears doubtful that the old master himself, Clarence De Mar, will be able to qualify for the American team, with only two places left to fill.

Sarazen Leads Money Winners In Golf Julius Telher Is Billiard Champion

Chicago, April 24 (AP)—Gene Sarazen collected $7,559 to lead the money winners in the winter golf tournaments, Bob Barlow, retiring tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' Association, announced today.

Next to Sarazen was Fred Morrison with $5,708. Harry Cooper had $3,856; Paul Runyan, $3,523; Whitney Cox, $2,517; Johnny Golden, $2,933; Otto Dutra, $2,540; Walter Hagen, $2,466; Joe Kirkwood, $2,497; Johnny Farrell, $2,150; MacDonald Smith, $2,100, and Ralph Guldahl, $2,017.

One hundred and fifty professionals shared in the $53,000 offered in 16 open tournaments, with 25 sharpshooters winning $1,000 or more.

Julius Telher is the billiard champion of Kingston for 1932. Wednesday night at the Kaslich parlor, Wall and Jones streets, he won the title by defeating Steve Kaslich 31 to 34 in the final block of the 300-point match for the laurels of the recent billiard tournament in which some of the best shots in the city competed.

Besides Telher, prize winners in the tourney who received the awards last night, were Steve Kaslich, Tony Gentile and Steve Chervenka.

At the Kaslich parlor tonight drawings will be made for a consolation between teams composed of a junior and senior player.

Horse in Biblical Times
It is for the purposes of war that the horse figures rather largely in the Bible. Apparently the work horse had not superseded oxen for farm labor in Old Testament days, nor taken the place of camel and ass as a burden bearer.

Artificial Head Covering
The word "wig" is short for perwig, and was derived from the French word "peruque," which means a head covering made of artificial hair.
